DETAILED ACTION

Specification

1. The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities: On page 4, lines 2 and 3, it is stated that the impregnated fragrance substance is best shown in figure 2. However, figure 2 does not show an impregnated fragrance substance.

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 1, 2, 4, 6, 7 and 9, 11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Simonsen (US 5,720,557) in view of Farquharson et al. (US 4,888,174). Simonsen discloses a bag (Fig 1-4, 10) with a body (14 and 16) with an open top end (20), a closed bottom end (18), a plurality of flexible straps (22 and 24) formed of a durable material (Col 4, lines 38-46), a cavity (32) between the top and bottom ends and a longitudinal axis in a substantially vertical direction. Simonsen does not disclose an outer surface impregnated with a pesticide. Farquharson et al. disclose an insecticide containing polymeric article (Col 3, lines 19-22) to protect the fruit or vegetables inside from insects. Therefore it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of invention to create the bag of Simonsen with the insecticide containing polymer of Farquharson et al. in order to protect the contents of the bag from insects.

3. Claims 3, 8, 12, 13 and 15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Simonsen (US 5,720,557) in view of Farquharson et al. (US 4,888,174) and further in view of Van Gelder et al. (US 2003/0204001A1). Simonsen as modified above discloses all the limitations of the claims except for a quantity of fragrance substance impregnated in the outer surface. Van Gelder et al. disclose a plastic bag with a fragrance incorporated therein ([0004]-[0005]) to mask unpleasant odors. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of invention to create the bag of Simonsen as modified above with the additional fragrance of Van Gelder et al. in order to mask unpleasant odors.

4. Claims 5 and 10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Simonsen (US 5,720,557) in view of Farquharson et al. (US 4,888,174) and further in view of Boyd (US 5,265,961). Simonsen as modified above discloses all the limitations of the claims except for a longitudinal axis extending in a substantially horizontal direction and a bottom surface extending along the axis of the body. Boyd discloses a bag (Fig 3) with a horizontal axis (not shown) and a bottom surface extending along the body (Fig 2b, 27-32), in order to prevent the bag from tipping over (abstract). Therefore it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of invention to create the bag of Simonsen as modified above, with the flat bottom of Boyd in order to prevent the bag from tipping over.

5. Claim 14 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Simonsen (US 5,720,557) in view of Farquharson et al. (US 4,888,174), Van Gelder et al. (US 2003/0204001A1) and further in view of Boyd (US 5,265,961). Simonsen as modified above discloses all the limitations of the claims except for a longitudinal axis extending in a substantially horizontal direction and a bottom surface extending along the axis of the body. Boyd discloses a bag (Fig 3) with a horizontal axis (not shown) and a bottom surface extending along the body (Fig 2b, 27-32), in order to prevent the bag from tipping over (abstract). Therefore it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of invention to create the bag of Simonsen as modified above, with the flat bottom of Boyd in order to prevent the bag from tipping over.

Conclusion

6. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Linda (US 2,615,614).
